PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM COUNTY JAIL

Two Alleged Burglars Break Hole Through Wall and Drop To Ground On Blanket Rope.

Harry Wendal and James Aagard, two prisoners awaiting trial on a burglary charge, made their escape from the Oneida county jail between the hours of seven and eight o'clock Saturday evening.

The men were in the spacious exercise room on the second floor of the jail where Sheriff Jilison is in the habit of leaving the prisoners previous to locking them in their cells for the night. From the door of the cell cage on the first floor, the men removed the heavy steel lever and with this succeeded in breaking a hole through the outside brick wall in the northeast corner of the building. A rope was made by tying the ends of blankets together. Fastening the rope to an iron bed the prisoners crawled through the narrow opening and swung to the ground below, a distance of nearly forty feet.

John Morrissey, a fellow prisoner, watched the two at their efforts to escape but refused to accompany them. As soon as they had departed, Morrissey by knocking on the steel door between the cell room and the residence portion of the jail, attracted the attention of Mrs. Jilison and thus informed her of the delivery. Sheriff Jilison and Under-Sheriff Baldwin were not in the building but Mrs. Jilison soon located them over the telephone.

The officers lost no time in instituting a search for the fugitives but they had covered well their tracks and no one could be found who had either seen or heard anything of them. All trains leaving the city were carefully watched and the officers of all the neighboring towns were asked to be on the lookout for the men.

Early Sunday morning a report came from Woodboro, the Soo station seven miles west of the city, that the hand car house had been broken into during the night and the car was missing. Monday, the car was found in a ditch near the side of the track at Heafford Junction. It is the opinion of the officers that the men walked to Woodboro and stealing the hand car rode to Heafford Junction where they boarded a west bound Soo train. Wendal had a nest sum of money sent him several days ago by his mother who resides in New York state.

Descriptions of Wendal and Aagard have been sent to all sheriffs and police headquarters throughout the northwest and the men will probably be re-captured.

In arranging their escape the prisoners worked quietly and rapidly. Sheriff Jilison left the jail at fifteen minutes after seven o'clock and at eight o'clock learned of the delivery. In forcing a hole through the wall the men first pried two bricks apart with the sharp end of the lever after which it was an easy task to make an opening large enough to permit the passage of a man's body. Once Mrs. Jilison imagined she heard a commotion on the second floor but believing the prisoners to be engaged in a friendly scuffle gave the matter no further attention.

Wendal and Aagard in company with Morrissey, were arrested at Minocqua on the charge of robbing a farm house. When confined in the Minocqua jail they attempted to escape by burning off the door and about succeeded in destroying the building. At the same time they nearly lost their lives and when removed from the building were completely overcome by smoke.

The trial of the three men was to have taken place last week in circuit court but was adjourned until this week. Wendal had engaged H. F. Steele as his attorney to defend him.

WAS PROMINENT MASON

Judge Henry L. Palmer, late president of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, and for nearly thirty years the head of the consistory of Scottish Rite Masons for the Northern jurisdiction died Friday morning at his home at Milwaukee, aged 90 years. Judge Palmer was a past grand officer of the Grand Lodge of Masons, the Grand Chapter and the Grand Commandery. The remains were buried Monday afternoon with Masonic honors and the funeral was one of the largest ever held in the state.

HIGH SCHOOL DECLAMATORY CONTEST

Hilliard Lewis' Declaration Is Awarded First Place By Judges

At the High school declamatory contest at the First Baptist church, last Thursday evening, Hilliard Lewis was awarded first place, Jefferson Redfield second, and Miss Margaret McDonald, third.

For his declamation, Mr. Lewis gave "If I were King." His delivery was with much force and expression and showed careful preparation. "The Midnight Visitor" by Mr. Redfield was very well delivered. Miss Margaret McDonald gave the "Widow Bedot" by Mark Twain in a most able manner. Other contestants were Helen Lewis, Katherine Seibel, Mary Langdon, Margaret Kehoe and Clarisse Smith. The Judges were Miss Brewster of Antigo, L. L. Brooks, principal of the Tomahawk schools, and C. H. Hemmingway, superintendent of Rock county schools.

During the evening several selections were sung by the High school girls' quartette consisting of Misses Hattie Johnston, Ruth Barnes, Edna Johnson and Hannah Anderson. Instrumental music was also furnished by the High school orchestra.

EPWORTH LEAGUE TWENTY YEARS OLD

Anniversary Will Be Observed by the Local Society Next Sunday.

The twentieth anniversary of the Epworth League will be observed by the Rhinelander society at the M. E. church, Sunday evening. An interesting program has been arranged. Rev. S. J. Tink, pastor of the church, will deliver a short address to the young people. Miss Ada Shaffer will read a paper on the origin of the League. There will be a long musical program in which several choice vocal and instrumental numbers will be rendered. Twenty years ago next Sunday, May 18, the Epworth League was founded. It has had a remarkable growth and branches are now in existence in all parts of the World.

It is hoped that Rhinelander people will join with the members here in observing this anniversary.

DEATH FROM TYPHOID FEVER

Thos. Williams, aged 55 years, died yesterday at St. Mary's hospital. He had been ill only a short time with typhoid fever. He was a woodman and up to the time that he was taken sick was employed at Dan Shea's camp near Mercer.

Williams has a brother residing near South Lynn, Mass., but his exact address is not known.

The funeral was held this morning at 11 o'clock from the Hildebrand mortuary.

BASE BALL SEASON WILL OPEN SUNDAY

Rhinelander Will Play Lac du Flambeau Indian Team On The Home Diamond

The opening game. The Indians are reported to be unusually strong this season and the game promises to be one of interest from start to finish. Game called at 2:30 sharp.

FODDER FOR THE FANS

Adam Vogt, who last season played second base with the locals, is expected to arrive in the city within a few days to take his former position on the team. Vogt is a top notcher in his line and is a favorite among the fans.

Syb Flannigan, well known in Rhinelander, who was given a try out with the Chicago White Sox, has been sold to Sacramento of the Frisco base ball league. Syb made a good showing with the White Sox and the contract is such that he may return to that team before the end of the season.

Tom Coates has signed for the season with the Oshkosh team of the state league. Coates appeared on the local diamond last year and his work was very satisfactory.

See Parker's Colts' scalp the red skins at the Fair grounds Sunday in the first game of the season.

Manager Parker is putting his men through a strenuous practice each evening and expects to have them in prime condition for Sunday's game.

CRITICISES HIGH SCHOOL FACULTY

Rev. Bergstrom Says Teachers Should Not Permit Dancing.

Last Sunday morning Rev. B. L. Bergstrom of the First Baptist church took occasion to severely criticize the High school faculty for permitting the dance feature at the Junior Prom given last Friday night at the Amory. He said that the business of the faculty was to educate the intellect and not the feet of the students; that a conventional pastime the secret and power of which is the fact of sex ought not to be tolerated by respectable society, and ought by all means not to be permitted to contaminate young life in its years of development. He did not place any blame upon the students who participated in the dance, but upon the parents whose knowledge of life and its mysteries ought to make them realize the great temptation to which young people are exposed while in the heat of the dance. The dance, he declared, is tearing down much of the work the church is trying to do, and the low state of spirituality in our churches is due largely to the strong hold which worldly amusements has on many church members.

CASE AGAINST CITY NON-SUITED BY COURT

Judge Reid Held There Was No Legal Contract Between Builders and School Board

The May term of circuit court for Oneida county adjourned yesterday at noon until June 21.

The case of the Hoepfner-Bartlett Company vs. the city of Rhinelander which was being conducted when The New North went to press last Thursday was non-suited by the court. The Hoepfner-Bartlett Company are the contractors who erected the fifth ward school building. In failure to have the structure completed at the time agreed the board of education held back a penalty of $1000 from the company. Suit was then started by the builders to recover this penalty.

In non-suiting the case the court held that there was no legal contract existing between the contractors and the city. It is intimated that the company will commence a new action against individual members of the board.

OTHER CIVIL CASES

The case of the Gateway City Steel Tank & Roofing Company vs. the Lewis Hardware Company will be tried by the court without jury at the adjourned session of the May term in June. The case of Ulysses Noel vs. Edward Rudolph involved trespass lands in Vilas county; the defendants moved to amend the contract and motion was granted by the court. This necessarily caused the case to be continued for trial. The case of Clas F. Dunbar vs. Town of Pelican will be tried in June as will also the case of A. F. Felch vs. John P. Selmer.

CRIMINAL CASES

The case of the State vs. Martin Miller, abandonment, will be disposed of later by the court without trial. The case of the State vs. Wm. O'Palta was continued for the term. John Morrissey plead guilty to a charge of malicious mischief and Judge Reid sentenced him to twenty days in the county jail. The Judge took into consideration the fact that Morrissey refused to escape from the county jail when the opportunity presented itself and was therefore quite lenient with him.

ANOTHER MILL IN OPERATION

The Mason-Donaldson Lumber company's saw mill which was recently leased from the Robbins Lumber company is now in operation. The plant will run days continually during the season and the company figures on a cut of 6,000,000 feet. The logs are being received from the camps near State Line at the rate of 50,000 feet per day.

John Sorenson is mill superintendent and the crew, with few exceptions, is the same as was formerly employed by the Johnson Lumber company.

GET CHINESE POSTS

A dispatch from Washington appearing in to-day's papers states that President Taft has sent to the Senate the nominations of William A. Rublee of Milwaukee, and Amos P. Wilder of Madison as consul generals at Hong Kong and Shanghai respectively.

CAPTAIN HAINS AS HE NOW APPEARS AND JUDGE WHO PRESIDED AT THE TRIAL

Captain Peter C. Hains Jr., charged with the murder of Wm. Annis in August last, was late Tuesday afternoon found guilty of manslaughter in the first degree. The trial was conducted at Flushing, N. Y., and attracted national interest. Conviction of manslaughter in the first degree carries a prison term of from one day to twenty years. The prisoner will appear for sentence next Monday. An effort to secure a new trial is being made by his lawyers.

MAY FESTIVAL

A May festival under the direction of Miss Riemann, instructor in music and drawing in the city schools, will be held at the Grand Opera House on some evening of next week. The school children will participate in the program. There will also be an interesting drawing exhibit on display at the public library.

SUGAR CAMP WEDDINGS

That the young people in the town of Sugar Camp do not believe in clinging long to the ways of single blessedness was evidenced this week when County Clerk Carr issued two marriage licenses to residents of that town. They are William Zakrzewski and Julia Rhoda; Antone Maciejewski and Yawigo Doblesyn.

A TALE OF LIFE
Eugene Moore intended to play "My Boy, Jack" only one season but the demand from opera house managers, that he present the same play and appear in the same part of Jack Paden this year, has forced Mr. Moore to postpone his new production until next season. Despite the panic of last year, Mr. Moore played "My Boy, Jack" thirty-eight weeks and ended his tour one of the substantial money getters. "My Boy, Jack" is good for several years yet. It is the kind of play that makes people sit up and listen, it interests them from the beginning to the end. It is a tale of life, real life, it is clean and bright, strong and entrancing and presented by Mr. Moore and his company with a wealth of expression and detail, met with only in the highest class productions of which "My Boy, Jack" is one. He will be here at the Opera House soon.

FLAG DAY, JUNE 14
The American Flag Association, according to the custom for the past twelve years, reminds the public that Monday June 14, will be the 132nd anniversary of the flag of the United States. The governors of not a few of the States, have by their proclamations, called public attention to the day and have ordered the flag to be displayed on all state buildings, and have invited their fellow citizens to celebrate the day.
Mayors of cities, in years past, for recognition of this anniversary have ordered flags to be displayed upon the municipal buildings of their respective cities and by formal proclamation or otherwise, have invited their fellow citizens to do the same upon their private buildings.
Editors of newspapers have by editorial comment and the publication of historical articles upon the subject of the flag, called attention to the day and called upon the public to display the national colors on Flag day.

CUT SIX MILLION
Dan Shea is down from Mercer this week, spending a few days at home to recuperate after a strenuous winter's work. Mr. Shea tells us that he put in 6,000,000 feet of logs this winter, but now he has slowed down a little and is working only about 25 or 30 men. He will continue logging operations all summer.—Merrill Star.

FROM NEARBY TOWNS
Oconto—In order to make room for a garage, the old Sharrow building, an Oconto landmark built during the Civil war and within the walls of which former Lieutenant Governor George C. Ginty published the Oconto County Pioneer, the first newspaper here, is being removed. The building has lately been used as a store room, a plumbing shop and a furniture repair shop.

Stevens Point—The new time table lately put into effect on the Soo road is very unsatisfactory to Stevens Point people and the travelling public in general. As the trains run at present Stevens Point is cut off from all trade coming by train from points between here and Marshfield and also from all points on the Milwaukee road, because it is impossible to come here and get back in less than 24 hours.

Merrill—The annual convention of group six of the Wisconsin Bankers' association will be held in this city on Saturday, May 23. The business sessions will be held in the afternoon and evening of the day. On Sunday the Merrill bankers will extend an invitation to the bankers present to partake of a trout dinner at Dudley's fishing resort.

Phillips—The announcement is made that the John R. Davis Lumber company contemplates enlarging its mill in this city. Many more men will be given employment in the plant which is now one of the largest of its kind in the Northwest.

Prentice—The Soo (formerly Wisconsin Central) depot in this village has been closed and all passenger trains now stop only at Prentice Junction. This new departure is very inconvenient to travelling men who wish to transact business in Prentice proper, and necessitates the establishment of a bus line between the Junction and the business section. An appeal will no doubt be made to the railroad commission.

Marshfield—Because the Soo road discontinued their afternoon train between here and Grand Rapids without giving public notice to that effect, the Dougherty Stock company threatens to bring suit against the road for damages, alleging that on account of it they were unable to get to Grand Rapids to open an engagement there for a three nights' stand on Monday night. The outcome is being watched with interest.

Ladysmith—The Modern Woodmen Camps of Rusk county will build and furnish two cottages, costing $250 each at the Woodmen tuberculosis sanitarium near Colorado Spring, Col. The members of the lodges will each be taxed and in this manner it is expected that enough money will be raised to pay for the cottages.

Ashland—The safe in Bert Gammon's saloon at Marengo, near this city was blown open last Thursday night by burglars. Nitroglycerine was used. A small amount of money and two watches were secured.

Hurley—While blowing out stumps with dynamite, Wm. Bernard, an employee of the Schroeder Lumber company at Saxon, was killed. In preparing the fuse for the primer he placed the cap between his teeth to tighten it and it exploded. His face and breast were horribly lacerated and he lived only a few hours.

Crandon—The plant of the Wisconsin Fruit Package company in this city now gives employment to eighty people and is recognized as one of the leading industries of Forest county. Many improvements are to be made about the factory within the next few weeks.

Hayward—It required twelve days of hard digging, much of the time with day and night shifts, to recover the body of Joseph Hermann, which was finally found seventy-five feet down in a well at Bass Lake. The man when found was standing with one foot in the bucket and grasping the rope, apparently in the same position as when at work.

Marshfield—"I know nothing about it," said ex-Gov. William H. Upham of this city when showed a dispatch to the effect that he had declined an ambassadorship to Mexico. "I understood that that post had been offered to an editor in Oregon, but that is all I know about it. I have not been in Washington; have not been offered a diplomatic post, and do not expect one."

THEATRE TALK NO. 5.

ONE OF THE IMPORTANT FIRST CLASS PRODUCTIONS OF THE SEASON, "MY BOY, JACK," WILL BE SEEN HERE IN A FEW DAYS. The play was written by Edwin Milton Reyle, author of "The Squaw Man," the most famous Broadway success of recent seasons, "Mellic Moonshine," which Marie Cahill found one of her most popular productions, "Capt. Impudence" and other noted plays. The company will have for its head and star EUGENE MOORE, who will be remembered for his brilliant performance of "Monte Cristo" and his high position among leading men and the cleverest light comedians. MR. MOORE SHINES BRIGHTLY IN THE PART OF JACK, and nothing could be better suited to the taste of American theatregoers than the character of this independent, worthy young son of a typical American business man. THE OPPORTUNITIES IN THE PART TO SHOW THE ACTOR'S ART in delineating a vivacious person-

CARE WILL KILL A CAT

Mr. Moore is one of the few actors in the country whose wide and complete experience and high ideals equip them to convey the full excellence of such a role. The other parts in the play are all of unusual interest, including the musician Karje, Margaret the prima donna, her dissipated father, and the landlady of the poet and composer in their poverty. The whole play is full of the best kind of entertainment the stage offers, and presented thoroughly well. There are four acts which carry the story from the poor lodgings of the poet and musician through the handsome apartments of the prima donna and the mansion of her rich admirer to the green room of the opera house. Rhinelander property owners would no doubt be pleased to have all pedestrians take heed of the following clipping from an exchange:

As summer approaches there is one bad habit we wish many good people would endeavor to break themselves of. It is cutting across corners of lots

CHAMBERLAIN'S LINIMENT

This is a new preparation and a good one. It is especially valuable as a cure for chronic and muscular rheumatism, and for the relief from pain which it affords in acute inflammatory rheumatism. Those who have used it have invariably spoken of it in the highest terms of praise. Lameness, lame shoulder and stiff neck are due to rheumatism of the muscles, usually brought on by exposure to cold or damp, and are quickly cured by applying this liniment freely and massaging the affected parts. Soreness of the muscles, whether induced by violent exercise or injury, is allayed by this liniment. For sale by F. L. Hinman & Co.

BILL SHOULD BE DEFEATED

A bill passed the assembly, Friday, opening the University to all graduates of high schools. We believe that is a step in the wrong direction and hope to see the senate defeat the bill. If this bill passes, the tendency will be to lower rather than raise the standard of high schools. The so-called self educated school men have always been contending that the University required special preparation for entrance, when the fact is the University has always been broad and allowed an equivalent of systematic work in any line. The passage of the bill lowering the entrance qualifications would take from the field the University inspectors who are a great aid to bettering the high schools of the state. Every man interested in the University and the high schools of Wisconsin should appeal to his senator to vote against this bill.

MADISON LETTER

A man calling himself a private detective and giving the name of Frank T. Wagner, caused a sensation last week by testifying that he saw the payment of money to certain members of the legislature in the Plankington House in Milwaukee. He told a strange story, remarkable for detail, and stuck to it so well that old attorneys who heard it felt that it could not possibly be wholly concocted. The man was then taken to Milwaukee, to the rooms in which he stated the acts of bribery were committed and there his wonderful story broke down completely. The members of the investigating committee issued a statement, declaring the evidence of no value and discrediting the whole story. Wagner is believed to be unbalanced mentally.

Another assemblyman has been dragged into the muddle by the testimony of Edw. McMahon, who was at the Stephenson committee headquarters a large part of the time during the primary campaign. Mr. McMahon testified that he was informed that L. W. Ledvina, now chairman of the committee on judiciary of the assembly, had received $200. At this writing Ledvina has not denied the statement while some heated remarks he made indicate that he will not make a denial. He was bitterly opposed to the investigation and if the story is true, it will put him in a bad light. More testimony was also secured regarding Assemblyman Thomas' participation in the game wardens' financial deal but it is very contradictory and the facts cannot be deduced.

It developed that the officers of the republican state central committee did not make a report of their financial transactions, either to the secretary of state, as required by law, or to the other members of the committee. It is also stated that all preceding officials made signed statements and transmitted them to the individual members of the committee. Mr. Edmonds testified that he had destroyed all the records of the last campaign. It is now hoped that the investigating committee will complete its labors next week and make a report. That it will be unable to prove specific acts of bribery is still a mooted question.

The legislature is doing good work these days but, contrary to the general rule, the assembly is belated. There are still many bills in its judiciary committee awaiting action.

There promises to be a contest over a bill revising the Civil Service law. The commission wants more power and the commissioners want more pay but the commission on state affairs reduced instead of increased their salary. The commission wants all discharges referred to it for final decision and the appointing officers who have had experience with it in the past oppose the plan.

W. J. MORGAN CASHES A WORTHLESS ORDER

Accepts Bogus Paper For $15.50

Bearing Signature of John Hess—

Antone Wurdick is Arrested

Antone Wurdick, a young man of the town of Pelican, is in the county jail awaiting a hearing in municipal court on the charge of having passed a forged order.

Last Saturday, Wurdick cashed at the Star Meat Market an order signed by John Hess, one of the prominent residents of Pelican. The order was for $15.50 and as it bore Mr. Hess' signature W. J. Morgan, proprietor of the market, did not hesitate to allow the money.

Later, Mr. Morgan grew suspicious and talking to Mr. Hess over the telephone learned that he had not made out the order and that it was nothing but a forgery.

N. T. Baldwin, under sheriff, and Mr. Morgan drove to the town of Pelican, Saturday night, and placed Wurdick under arrest. At first he denied having passed the order and stated that he had never seen Mr. Morgan before. When the county jail was reached, the young man broke down and made a confession in which he said that he did not write the order but merely got it cashed for John Deyer of the town of Crescent. For this service he said Deyer gave him twenty-five cents. A search is being made for Deyer but as yet the man has not been located.

WAS A CLEVER PRODUCTION

"Union Depot" by the Priscillas Scores a Decided Hit.

The "Union Depot" presented under the auspices of the Priscilla society of the Congregational church at the Grand Opera House, Tuesday evening, was one of the best home talent productions ever seen in Rhinelander and was immensely enjoyed by the large audience in attendance.

About fifty people participated in the play and the different characters represented provoked much mirth. It was just such a typical crowd as one would expect to find in every day life at a big Union station. The audience was kept in an uproar of laughter by the funny sayings and ludicrous actions of those on the stage. All were clever and carried their various roles in a capable manner.

Financially the entertainment was also a success the society netting about $100.

THE QUAKER DOCTOR.

Doctor Garbutt, the well-known specialist, who visits Rhinelander every four weeks says: "It is a great mistake to have a child's tonsils cut just because they are inflamed and swollen. The real cause of bad tonsils is mouth-breathing which infects the whole tract even to the air cells of the lungs, and the cause of mouth breathing is a diseased nose. To see if I am right examine the nose of any one who breathes through the mouth or has bad nostrils." Dr. Garbutt is an authority on such cases and an expert in rheumatism, stomach and kidney disease, lame back, lumbago, sciatica, paralysis, skin diseases, and all toxic conditions of the blood. THE MOTHER'S PROBLEM

Of Raising Strong, Healthy Girls.

A serious problem which presents itself to every mother with girls to raise, in these days. The exigencies of school life, the hurry and routine of every-day duties, the artificial environment of modern civilization, make it more difficult to raise strong, healthy girls than ever in the history of the world.

Boys raise themselves. Give them room, give them liberty, and they will grow up healthy at least, without much worrying. But the girls present a serious problem.

How many mothers there are who are worrying about their daughters. Nervous, puny girls, with poor, capricious appetites, bloodless, listless, a constant anxiety to the mother. How shall she solve her problem? To whom shall she turn for help? Each case is more or less a study by itself, and cannot be solved by any general rule.

This is the way one mother solved the problem. Mrs. Schopfer, 503 Prescott Ave., St. Louis, Mo., in a letter to Dr. Hartman, says: "My daughter Alice, four years of age, was a puny, sickly, ailing child since she was born. I was always doctoring her. When we commenced to use Peruna she grew strong and well."

Another mother, Mrs. Martha Moss, R. F. D. 5, Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin, says: "Our little eight-year-old girl had a bad cough, and was in a general run-down condition." She had several doctors, who could give the child no relief, and the mother no encouragement.

Finally, she got a bottle of Peruna and commenced giving it to the child, and it proved to be just what she needed. When she commenced taking Peruna the child had to be carried.

Now the mother says she is playing around all the time.

Her closing words were: "You have done a great deal for her. She is the only girl we have, and it meant lots to us to have her cured."

These are samples of many letters which Dr. Hartman is receiving, coming straight from the hearts of loving mothers. While the different schools of medicine are bickering and differing as to theories and remedies, Peruna goes right steadily on giving permanent relief. After all, it is cures that the people want. Theories are of little account.

HINMAN'S AUTO RUNS AWUCK

Machine Becomes Scared at Dog and Tries To Climb Tree.

Dr. F. L. Hinman's motor carriage became frightened at a dog at the junction of Davenport and Pellham Streets, yesterday afternoon, and after first running over the curb attempted to climb a tree at the edge of the curb. Dr. Hinman, who occupied the vehicle, was unable to manage the steering gear and before the power was shut off the machine was considerably damaged. Fortunately, the doctor escaped uninjured although he received a severe jolt. The machine after a short stay in the repair hospital will no doubt be in as perfect condition as ever.

As to the dog—he is still on earth and continues to remain about the neighborhood taking delight in running after after all carriages and autos. Several times he has been shot at but, appears to be absolutely bullet proof and up to date all efforts to end his wild career have failed. About the only effective way to destroy his dogship would be to cut off his head. Precaution should then be taken to hide the head in a secluded spot where the wily brute would never be able to recover it.

JUNIOR PROM A SUCCESS

Eighty-Five Couples Attend This Pleasant Social Event.

At the Armory, Friday evening, there was held one of the most pleasant and enjoyable social functions of the year. This was the annual prom given by the High School Juniors in honor of the Seniors who are soon to graduate.

Eighty-five couples attended the party and dancing was in order until 1 o'clock a. m. Music was furnished by the Military Orchestra and the selections were the latest.

The hall decorations were pretty and artistically arranged. Hundreds of pennants hung from the chandeliers and sidewalls. The class colors, pale blue and gold, were conspicuously displayed in bunting and ribbons. Several dainty cozy corners were installed about the hall for the comfort of those who did not prefer dancing. Punch was served at booths in charge of lower class girls.

Every one present pronounced the party a success and spoke highly of the hospitality of the Juniors.

ENVER BEY, WHO PLANNED THE RETAKING OF CONSTANTINOPLE.

While General Scheffer Pasha is regarded as the hero of the invasion of Constantinople and the dethronement of the tyrant Abdul Hamid, he is a modest hero and prefers to share his honors with Enver Bey. The latter in turn declares he is only the lieutenant of the general. Enver Bey, however, was the chief mover in the revolution of last July, when Abdul Hamid was forced to recognize the constitution. When the troops entered Constantinople their cheers were mainly for Enver Bey. He is loved by all the progressive element in the empire for his superb statesmanship and his many honorable qualities.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR

BY

COPYRIGHT, 1907 BY
GEORGE H. BROADHURST

With all the advantages of youth, education and good looks and no vocation other than the enjoyment of wealth, the hero of our present story chose rather to sacrifice his ease and comfort on the altar of his duty as a citizen. His city called him to save her from spoliation and corruption, and he responded to the call. To lure him from the path of right came the seductions of love and the claims of a revered parent's memory, allied with the mighty forces at the command of political and financial malefactors. The firmness with which "the man of the hour," singled out for the highest post in a great municipality by those who saw in him only a weakling and a fool, resisted the very forces that had elevated him for their own purposes to official power will be an inspiration to the reader, as it has been an uplifting force in the minds of thousands who have witnessed its theatrical representation.

CHAPTER XVIII.

UNDER the maniac fury that blazed from Thompson's eyes Wainwright strank back in panic dread.

"He's—he's mad!" cried the financier.

"Don't let him at me!"

For Thompson seemed about to hurl himself on his foe.

"Go easy, son," adjured Phelan, trying a restraining hand on the secretary's shoulder.

The latter, recalled to himself by the pressure, relaxed his tense, menacing attitude and, with hysterical revulsion of feeling, sank into a chair, burying his face in his arms on the table before him.

"Nine horrible years!" he sobbed brokenly. "Nine awful years of slavery, of debasement! Watching, listening, longing to crush him, and, oh, the time has come, thank God! Thank God!"

"You're all in, lad!" muttered Phelan, passing an arm about the shaking youth and lifting him to his feet.

"Come with me. I'll send out and get you a brace."

Thompson, exhausted by his emotions, obeyed mechanically, but at the farther door paused for a moment and again fixed his wild, bloodshot eyes on Wainwright's haggard face.

"Remember," he threatened, his voice dead and expressionless, "when you get out of jail I'll be waiting for you. And as sure as God's justice lives I'll kill you as I'd kill a dog! Nine years waiting and—I'll murder you as you murdered my—"

Phelan had forced him over the threshold, and the slamming of the door behind the two seemed to break the strange spell that had fallen on all.

Wainwright straightened himself, glanced fearfully about, tried to regain his shaken composure and opened his mouth to speak. But the hurried entrance of Williams prevented him.

"Mr. Horrigan," gasped the excited newcomer, "I've been looking everywhere for you!"

"What's wrong now?" snapped the boss. "Hiss—"

"The Borough bill's come up at last, and—"

"The gallery crowd's rough housing the place? Then—"

"No, they're quiet as death; too quiet. And they have long ropes, and they're stringing them over the—"

"Call in the police, then!" ordered Horrigan. "Now's the time for them!"

"I don't dare," protested Williams. "Those men in the gallery are desperate. They're dangerous. If—"

"The police?" interrupted Bennett sharply. "What are you talking about?"

"My orders!" returned Horrigan. "I sent for them. Tell them to—"

"Don't do it!" commanded Bennett in anger.

"Do as I say, Williams!" countermanded Horrigan. "Have them in and—"

"Phelan," interposed Bennett as the alderman, having left Thompson in other hands, came into the room, "go to the sergeant in charge of the police. Mr. Horrigan sent for. Tell him I say he must keep his men where they are and take no orders except from me. Understand?"

"I sure do!" grinned Phelan, with a delighted grin at the wrathful Horrigan. "An' I'll see they—"

"You need not trouble!" croaked Wainwright, his throat dry and constricted with fear. "The bill is withdrawn!"

"That goes!" corroborated Horrigan. "Do you hear that, Williams? Mr. Wainwright withdraws the Borough bill. Attend to it to a rush, man. Never mind about the police!"

"Well, Friend Horrigan," blandly observed Phelan as Williams hastened out. "I told you I'd cross two sticks of dynamite under you some day. Like wise I done it!"

"What had you to do?"

"To do with smashes you! Only that I put his honor on to the bill in the first place an' then sicked him on to Roberts an' discovered Thompson an' turned him over to Mr. Bennett. That's about all. But I guess it's enough to make your political career feel like it had a long line of carriages drivin' slow behind it. Chesty Dick, my old chum!"

Horrigan had turned his back on his victorious tormentor and was facing the mayor.

"Bennett," said he, "you forget I've still got that report about your father, and—"

"Tomorrow's papers will publish it," supplemented Alwyn.

"No, they won't," contradicted Horrigan. "That would be bad politics. The report will hold over till—"

"You're mistaken," interrupted Bennett calmly. "I've sent a copy of that report today to every paper in the city and have accompanied it with a statement that I shall make good to the city treasury every penny overcharged in the library and aqueduct contracts. So—"

Horrigan was staring at him open mouthed.

"Bennett," he muttered in genuine wonderment, "I don't know whether you're the craziest fool or the cleverest politician in the state."

"Your honor," humbly pleaded Wainwright, who for several minutes had been trying in vain to draw Bennett aside for a private word. "I am an old man. Is there no way of—of showing me mercy in my—"

"Yes," retorted Alwyn. "You shall receive exactly the same mercy you have always shown to your own financial enemies—no more, no less."

"Oh, cut out the whine, Wainwright!" sneered Horrigan in high contempt as he linked his arm in the broken financier's and hauled him roughly from the room. "What's happened to your nerve? You're almost as bad as Gibbs. You're still rich, and as long as you've got plenty of cash no law in America need ever bother you. There's lots of talk about indictments, and arrests, and investigations, and prosecutions, and all that sort of rot. But I don't see any millionaires going to jail. Come on across to my lawyer's."

The boss and financier departed without a backward look, leaving Phelan and Bennett alone on the late scene of battle.

"Say, your honor," observed the alderman slyly, "there's one very important engagement you've clean forgot. Sit right where you are a minute, an' I'll send the party in here and see that nobody butts in on you till you want 'em to. Oh, but we didn't do a thing to Horrigan! He'll have to watch which way his toes point to see whether he's goin' or comin'!"

The alderman sped on his mission, leaving Alwyn seated alone, dejected, miserable, in the deserted committee room.

Now that the crisis was past, his heart was strangely heavy. He had won. But at what cost? At the loss of all he held dear.

Alwyn Bennett knew, too, that the real fight was but just begun—a fight that had waged since the world began and must last to judgment day—the hopeless, uphill battle of decency against evil, of honesty against graft.

Horrigan's sneering words, "I don't see any millionaires going to jail," stuck disagreeably in the young mayor's memory. Their brutal, bald truth jarred on his belief in the inevitable triumph of good. After all, was the dreary, self-sacrificing battle against an unconquerable foe worth while? Could the great good graft ever be checked in his mastery of the earth? If—

A rustle of skirts startled Alwyn from his dark thoughts.

"Dallus!" he cried, unbelieve-ly, as he sprang to his feet half dazzled at the wondrous light that transformed her face.

Slowly she came toward him, her glorious dark eyes on his, her white hands outstretched in irresistible appeal. At last she spoke.

RONEY-BOYS CONCERT COMPANY

Will Appear At Opera House, Wednesday
Evening, May 19.

The "Roney's Boys" Concert Co. of Chicago will appear at the Opera House, Wednesday, May 19, at eight o'clock. Tickets fifty and twenty-five cents. Reserved seats at Bronson's. It is almost a waste of words, at this stage, to commend this standard attraction. Nearly everybody in America has heard of "Roney's Boys" of Chicago and their exquisite singing and playing from delighted hundreds of thousands. Original and unapproachable high class music and old time favorites, rendered with the finish of adult artists, elegant costumes, and boyish innocence, purity and modesty, are the cardinal attractions of this unique combination. The boys are not related to Mr. Roney, their trainer and manager.

Aside from its entertainment feature this concert has a high educational value, and is at once an inspiration and a grand object lesson to every child in the city. In the possibilities of their own voices under cultivation. It stimulates a greater love for all that is beautiful in music, and helps singing in the church, the school and the home. Indeed, so potent is its influence among children that superintendents and principals of schools and boards of education have many times ordered the schools closed on the afternoon of the Boys' matinee—an endorsement that no other concert company in America has received.

Wallace Bruce, President of Florida Chautauque—"Roney's Boys" have left a remembrance of a delightful concert, never to be forgotten. It stands chief and supreme of all our entertainments in variety and artistic finish.—De Funiak Springs, Fla.
